

Directions to Union Station

401 S. Jackson St., Seattle

Sound Transit's offices are located in historic Union Station within the International and Pioneer Square districts in downtown Seattle -- not to be confused with King Street Station, which has the tall clock tower and serves as the Amtrak Rail Station and Sound Transit's Sounder commuter train station.

Taking the bus to Sound Transit

Bus routes serving Fourth or Fifth avenues at South Jackson Street and tunnel routes serving the International District tunnel station (shown on the map below) will take you near Sound Transit's Union Station at 401 S. Jackson St. The front entrance is located on South Jackson Street between Fourth and Fifth avenues.

Southbound on Interstate 5 to downtown Seattle

Take the I-90 feeder lanes from I-5 as you head south. Once in the feeder lanes, drive in the right lane and follow the signs for the 4th Ave. S. exit. It will take you on the overpass over Airport Way S. Get into the left turn lane. Make a left onto 4th Ave. S. The parking garage, with two entrances, is on your right. See below for more detail on the parking garage.

Northbound on Interstate 5 to downtown Seattle

Take the Airport Way/Kingdom exit. Drive along the feeder lane that brings you to 4th Ave. S. Make a left onto 4th Ave. S. The Union Station Parking garage, with two entrances, is on your right. See below for more detail on the parking garage.

Parking garage entrances

There are two entrances to the Union Station Parking garage which stretches three blocks underground along 4th Ave. S. The south entrance is just north of the Airport Way/Kingdom exit ramp. The north entrance is closest to Sound Transit's offices in Union Station (this entrance is immediately across from the Weller Street Pedestrian Bridge). To reach Sound Transit offices via the main building entrance, walk north along 4th Ave. S to the Jackson Street side of the Union Station building.
